As your pet's health is our utmost concern, during dental cleanings we may find teeth that are in need of further examination and treatment. We offer digital dental radiography (X-rays) to assess the health of the teeth, including the root structure and surrounding bone. X-rays may be needed to help us provide treatment for your pet. In the event that x-rays or oral surgery are needed, how would you like us to proceed?

_____ Call before any x-rays or oral surgery is performed.

_____ Perform x-rays at the doctor's discretion.

_____ Perform oral surgery at doctor's discretion.

_____ Please do full mouth x-rays regardless of the oral exam findings to fully assess my pet's oral health.

Dental radiographs are priced as follows: 1 x-ray is $52.11, 2-4 x-rays is $103.14 and full mouth radiographs are $147.25. The cost of oral surgery is dependent upon the length of time needed to remove oral masses and/or diseased teeth. Thirty minutes of surgery is $292.21, sixty minutes is $584.42. Additional 30 minute increments are $292.21. If your pet needs extensive surgical attention, the doctor may elect to do surgery in multiple stages (typically 2-3 visits, each requiring anesthesia). Depending on the location of oral surgery, 1-4 nerve blocks may be required ($26.50 each).

If we are unable to reach you at the phone number provided, what would you like us to do?

_____ Do the necessary x-rays and/or extraction(s) based on the doctor's discretion.

_____ Do NOT do any x-rays or extractions and recover your pet from anesthesia WITH the KNOWLEDGE that further anesthesia may be required at a later date.

Prices are subject to change. Please refer to your estimate for more detailed pricing. PLEASE CONTACT US IF YOU DID NOT RECEIVE AN ESTIMATE.
